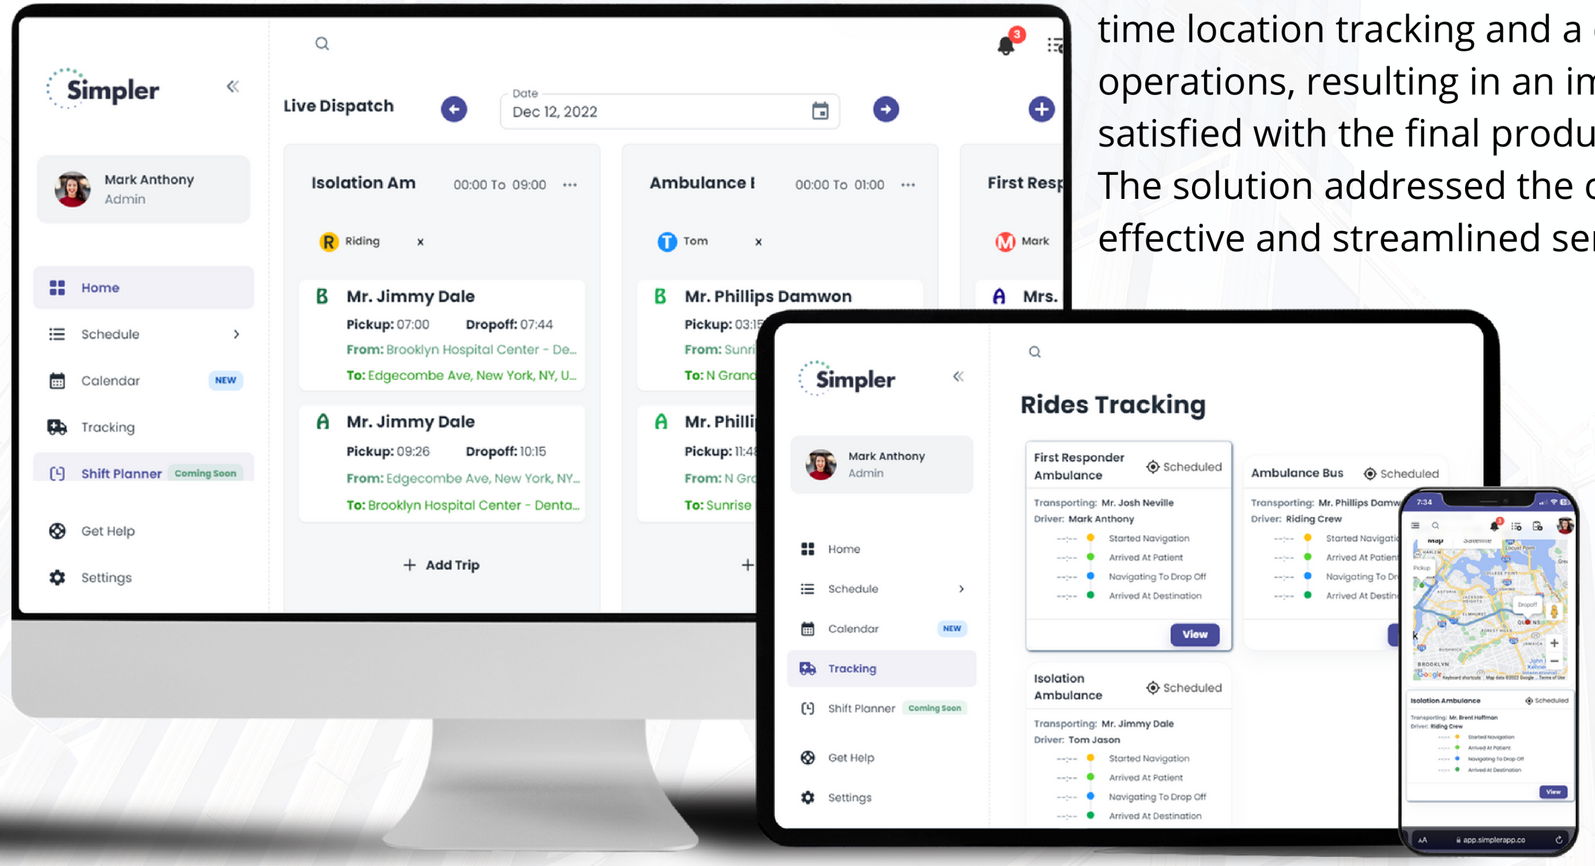
Case Study

Fleet Management and Logistics System

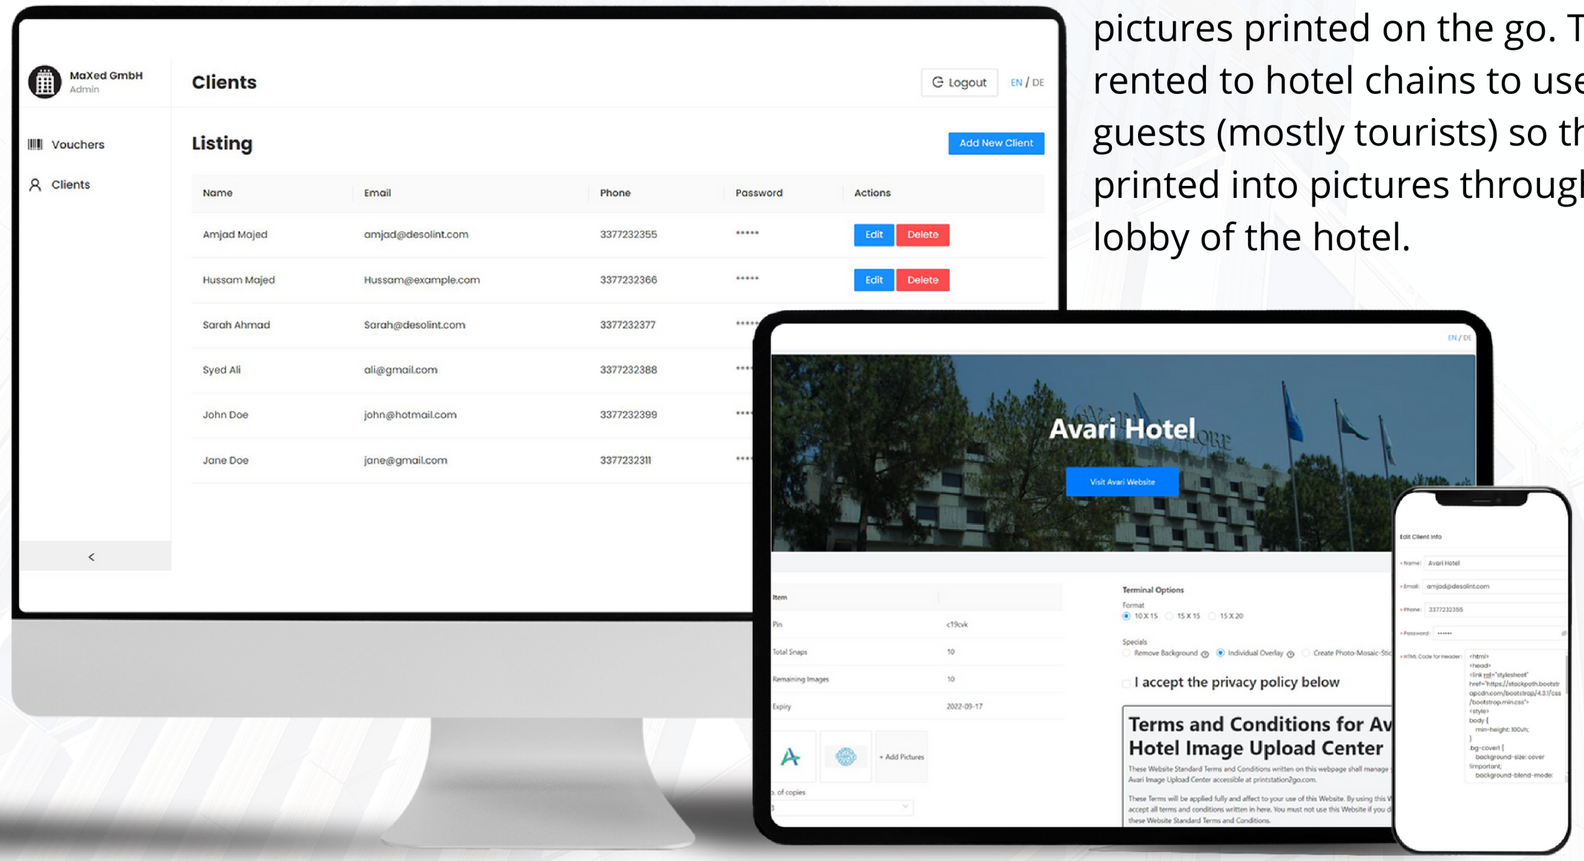
A custom web app was created for an ambulance dispatch company to improve its operations by addressing challenges such as real-time tracking, communication, visibility, and lack of centralization. The app eases dispatch and provides real-time location tracking and a centralized system for managing operations, resulting in an improved system. The client was satisfied with the final product and gave positive feedback. The solution addressed the challenges and led to a more effective and streamlined service.



Case Study

Memories Printing Platform

We have created a web application for a hardware-based company. The physical product is an image printer given (rented) to users for private parties so they can convert their digital photos taken with their smartphones into physical pictures printed on the go. The hardware printer can also be rented to hotel chains to use to offer coupons for their guests (mostly tourists) so they can have their memories printed into pictures through the machine present in the lobby of the hotel.



Case Study

Insurance Certificates Reselling Platform

We created a web application for an insurance reseller who sells insurance plans for vehicle leasing companies. They needed a system to easily generate insurance certificates for their subscribed clients to ease the process of generating and retrieving the data.

Outstanding Quality & Performance

I am very positively surprised. I did several projects with DESOL Int. They are listening, asking the right questions and the quality - output they are delivering is outstanding.

Sarah coordinates and is the single point of contact. no matter what it is design, graphics, website, app - she takes it and solves it.

Congratulations! Well done!

Complete and absolutely fantastic…

Complete and absolutely fantastic service! Sarah put me in touch with her colleague, Amjad, who with his technical skills listened and challenged my requirements for a custom platform we already had from another company, but which due to lack of maintenance had to be replaced. Throughout the project, Amjad has provided a fantastic service and responds almost every hour of the day.
Will 100% use Desolint again.
